Will You Be My Friend?

Will you be my friend?
There are so many reasons why you never should:
I'm sometimes sullen, often shy, acutely sensitive,
My fear erupts as anger, I find it hard to give,
I talk about myself when I'm afraid
And often spend a day without anything to say.

But I will make you laugh
And love you quite a bit
And hold you when you're sad
I cry a little almost every day
Because I'm more caring than the strangers ever know,
And, if at times, I show my tender side
(The soft and warmer part I hide)

I wonder,
Will you be my friend?

A friend

Who far beyond the feebleness of any vow or tie
Will touch the secret place where I am really I,
To know the pain of lips that plead and eyes that weep,
Who will not run away when you find me in the street
Alone and lying mangled by my quota of defeats
But will stop and stay--to tell me of another day
When I was beautiful.

Will you be my friend?
There are so many reasons why you never should:
Often I'm too serious, seldom predictably the same,
Sometimes cold and distant, probably I'll always change.
I bluster and brag, seek attention like a child,
I brood and pout, my anger can be wild,

But I will make you laugh
And love you quite a bit
And be near when you're afraid.
I shake a little almost every day
Because I'm more frightened than the strangers ever know
And if at times I show my trembling side
(The anxious, fearful part I hide)

I wonder,
Will you be my friend?

A friend

Who, when I fear your closeness, feels me push away
And stubbornly will stay to share what's left on such a day,
Who, when no one knows my name or calls me on the phone,
When there's no concern for me--what I have or haven't done--
And those I've helped and counted on have, oh so deftly, run,
Who when there's nothing left but me, stripped of charm and subtlety,
Will nonetheless remain.

Will you be my friend?
For no reason that I know
Except I want you so.

--James Kavanaugh

The most powerful and the most lasting friendships are usually those of the early seasons of our lives, when we are most susceptible of warm and affectionate impressions.

True friendship is an identity of souls rarely to be found in this world. Only between like natures can friendship be altogether worthy and enduring.

Happiness is good.
The place to be happy
is here.
The time to be happy
is now.
The way to be happy
is to help make
others happy.

Let us be first
to give a friendly
sign, to nod first,
smile first, and--
if such a thing
is necessary--
forgive first.

What is a friend?

*A person who will listen to your problems,
a person who can be depended upon at all times,
a person who will go out of his way for you.*

Because of this . . . and More

*We, the Citadel Staff of '74,
proudly dedicate this book
to you, Mr. Pierson.*

"FINALLY, brethren
Whatsoever things are true,
Whatsoever things are honest,
Whatsoever things are pure,
Whatsoever things are lovely,
Whatsoever things are of good report,
if there be any virtue, and . . . any praise, think on these things."
Phil. 4:8

Just HOW TRUE does one have to be in the sight of GOD?
Just HOW HONEST does one have to be in the SIGHT of God?
Just HOW JUST does one have to BE in the sight of God?
Just HOW PURE does one HAVE to be in the sight of God?
Just HOW LOVELY DOES one have to be in the sight of God?
in order for his life to be of good report?

Perhaps this text begins with the word "Finally" for a reason you have never before considered. I like to think that it means that in the final analysis we must face all of these factors. I would like to suggest that we must face them in the light of the word "HOW" also. Most people believe themselves to be true, honest, just, pure, and lovely to some extent. However, the final reckoning will not be based on "to some extent," but rather on the "full extent" of each of these virtues:

*HOW TRUE _____%
*HOW HONEST _____%
*HOW JUST _____% *HOW PURE _____%
*HOW LOVELY _____%
*Anything less than 100% is failing.
